

ANDREW MCMANUS

Bio

Born and raised in MA, Andrew still calls Greater Boston home. His influences stem from the 90's Rock of his childhood, and evolved into the Modern Country Rock sound that adds the storytelling aspect that he was drawn to. McManus formed his Band in 2016 after graduating college, and began gaining momentum in the New England country music scene. His debut single, "I Won't Wait", was released in November 2021, and his 4 releases have now surpassed 6k streams. Since 2022, Andrew has been featured on Boston radio stations Country 102.5, and 101.7 The Bull, while also earning opportunities to share the stage with Artists such as Russel Dickerson, Mitchell Tenpenny, and Matt Stell in 2023. His first EP is slated for 2024.
